

2020 Q1: The Power Of Inclusion

We are glad to announce the 1st DDTalk: The Power of Inclusion Dennie's first conference talk and one of the conference talks with the highest demand. A talk that has traveled the world from Sydney via London to Sweden. In between this locations The Power of Inclusion had some more stops in Europe.

A primer into accessibility. A Primer into Quality of Life for people with disabilities.

A session about accessible software for people with a disability.

As developer you can develop apps, to help people with a disability. It's a sector that is not often covered by developers. But with a little set of developer skills you can make lives better.

First of all we start with the description of the field of people with a disability, which disabilities are there? What are the problems?

After this I describe how people with disabilities are threaten in the past and today.

Then I describe how software can help inclusion. I talk you about inclusive design and develop patterns.

I end with slides how people in normal work situations can benefit of the power of persons with different kind of disabilities..
